...SUMMARY...

A line of thunderstorms, moving from west to east, produced damaging wind gusts across the town of Lenox, MA on July 12, 2022. Damage was sporadic across the town, and ranged from broken tree limbs to large diameter trees snapped and uprooted.
Damage was often most concentrated downwind of large open spaces or lakes. Downed trees blocked many roads and caused numerous power outages. Trees also fell on homes and cars. Some festival tents were blown away.
