Reported by the West Texas Mesonet site two miles west of Clarendon.

Severe thunderstorms containing large and damaging hail along with a few tornadoes and flooding rainfall moved across the Texas panhandle during the evening hours. The hardest hit areas from the large hail and tornadoes were from northwest Amarillo to the northern sections of Canyon where the hospital district and Baptist St. Anthony's hospital sustained major damage to windows. A tornado just east of Canyon produced major damage. The total cost of the hail was approximately one hundred and seventy-five million dollars. The Insurance Council of Texas has ranked this event as the sixth costliest hail storm in Texas history. No injuries were reported from the tornadoes and hail.

Six to eight inches of water with some twelve inches over Farm to Market road 1727 west-northwest of Dalhart as Carrizo Creek flooded.

Heavy rainfall caused Carrizo Creek in extreme southern Dallam and extreme northern Hartley counties...west-northwest and west-southwest of Dalhart...to flood over the roads during the early morning hours.
